

It Came from Outer Space

The parts we make these days are for terrestrial use, but that hasn't always been the case. When these guys crash landed a few years ago they turned to Compucraft to repair their hyperdrive. Once we figured out the conversion factor between praxtels and inches we were able to put our sheet-metal and machining expertise to the test, and before you knew it our new friends were on their way home. I guess you could say that it's universally known that our quality and craftsmanship are second to none.

Brain Teaser

I'm often seen around a lot, referred to many ways, See me black and you may find misfortune haunts your days. Tell a thing, that should have been kept quiet, to all around, Then look inside the sack, there I'm no longer to be found. Nosiness, prying, snooping, leaves me fearing, full of dread, For all these things are likely to see me soon lying dead. These clues combined should start to give a picture, an idea, Of who or what I am, so can you tell me? Is it clear?
