A Part Worth Celebrating

The part shown here is a "solvent tank" for one of our customers in the semi-conductor industry, and it highlights our laser cutting, forming, rolling, welding, and polishing capabilities. This weldment is made from 316 stainless steel and then electro-polished. The weld seams have been leak tested, and fixtures were used to properly align the parts as required. Send your inquiries today, and let CompuCraft show you quality craftsmanship that is worth celebrating.
